In-demand Skills for Diverse Industries

CERTIFICATE OF PROJECT MANAGEMENT

According to Pedersen and Ritte in the Harvard Business Review (April 2020), as you plan for a post-pandemic world, your business must account for project management and project execution. The Certificate of Project Management helps to prepare you with the in-demand skills needed in a diversity of industries. And, FYI: The average salary for project management specialists in Hawai'i is $75,420-$83,250, with the Project Management Institute (PMI) noting that such professionals earn 82% more than those in other fields.

Participants choose from ten course offerings to create a flexible, online program that meets their needs and levels of experience. With all courses taught by highly experienced practitioners in the project management profession, you'll also be able to earn Professional Development Units (PDUs) recognized by the Project Management Institute (PMI®).

Complete the Project Management Basics core course and three (3) of eleven (11) electives tailored to your individual strengths and needs. Courses may also be taken individually.
